

BOTH CLANS OF ROOSEVELTS AT BRILLIANT BALL

First Lady's Niece, Namesake, Honored At White House

Washington, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Both houses of Roosevelt danced at the White House tonight at a gay and brilliant ball honoring the first lady's niece and namesake, 18-year-old Eleanor Roosevelt of Boston.

Slim and quaint in a fluffy white frock with a hoop skirt, brown-eyed "Ellie" stood with Mrs. Roosevelt, in bright red chiffon, and Hall Roosevelt, her father, to receive a dozen Roosevelt cousins and several hundred youthful society people from all over the east.

President Roosevelt decided to drop the affairs of state for a time to greet the guests informally, as President Theodore Roosevelt had done at the debut of his daughter, Ethel, 30 years ago this Christmas week.

It was the first White House debut since that of Helen Taft in 1910, and generally was considered the most brilliant White House ball since "Princess" Alice Roosevelt was presented to society in 1902.

As at that ball, all the young Roosevelts from both the Democratic and Republican sides of the family gathered from Boston, New York, Oyster Bay and Washington for a rollicking good time.

Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the president's 85-year-old mother, was here to hold court in a corner for young Roosevelts and their friends, wearing what she called "a long-tailed black satin dress."

Chefs prepared a midnight meal of scrambled eggs, sausages, chicken salad, ice cream and cake. Dancing was to continue until 3 a. m.

The girl of the evening, smiling and happy Eleanor, carried an old-fashioned bouquet given her by her mother, Mrs. John C. Roosevelt of Boston. A gown being sent her by the King of Greece for the occasion had not arrived, and the one she chose was of white French organdie, hand-embroidered. Buffers ripped off her shoulders, and there was a hoop in the full ruffled skirt. A brown sash and brown slippers matched her fluffy hair.

Conference at Lima Of All Americas Is Ended By Chairman

"Ample Fulfilled Expectations," Dr. Carlos Concha Of Peru, Declares

Lima, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The eighth Pan-American conference, which brought the American republics into a solid bloc against foreign aggression, came to a close tonight as the chairman, Dr. Carlos Concha, Peruvian Foreign Minister, told a plenary session it had "amply fulfilled expectations."

The plenary meeting, coming after the delegations had signed a final act of the conference containing all the resolutions and declarations approved, heard Dr. Concha declare:

"We can justly boast of having opened up through our efforts a new stage in the progressive evolution of the ideal of American solidarity."

Dr. Concha attributed extraordinary importance to the conference because of the declaration of Lima—the declaration of western hemisphere solidarity and defense against foreign aggression.

MAN ON RELIEF

In America Better Off Than Soviet Worker

Chicago, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The Rev. Frederic Steadman, S. J., of the University of Detroit, said today, "a man on public relief in America is better off than a 'worker' in the Soviet Union."

The executive dean of the University of Detroit addressed a banquet meeting of the first annual convention of the American Catholic Sociological Society on "The Soviet Social Experiment."

"The Soviet Union is literally a gigantic prison," he told 250 delegates to the conference. "The American on public relief has a higher income and is free to come and go as he pleases."

"The rank and file of Russia live on less than $18 a month. There is no equality in Russia today. While the great masses live on 200 rubles, equivalent to $18 monthly, a chosen few live lavishly on 1,000 to 20,000 rubles. This diversity of wages inevitably creates different classes, xxx"

ILLINOIS FARM INCOME LOWER THAN FOR 1937

Annual Crop Summary Prepared By A. J. Surratt

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 27.—(AP)—Estimated Illinois farm income from main crops this year will fall $78,618,000 short of the 1937 figure, it was indicated today in the annual crop summary prepared by A. J. Surratt, federal agricultural statistician.

Surratt's review of the state's farm activity said "preliminary estimates of the 1938 season average prices received by Illinois farmers indicate a total value of production of main crops of $297,180,000 in comparison with $375,778,000 for similar crops in 1937."

The corn crop

In the production of corn, the estimate was reflected a corn harvest drop of 70,286,000 bushels from last year's bumper crop of 449,818,000 bushels, nevertheless this year's corn crop was the third largest since 1925, the other heavier harvest year being 1932.

Illinois soybean production broke all records this year, yielding 23.5 bushels an acre and totaling 31,868,000 bushels for the year. This compared with 20 bushels and 27,040,000 bushels, respectively, for 1937.

Illinois produced approximately one-seventh of the nation's corn and one-half of its soybeans.

Barley Increase

The 1938 production of all Illinois wheat was 42,550,000 bushels, 7 per cent less than last year. Barley increased 35 per cent over last year when the total harvest was 4,650,000 bushels. The 1938 tame hay tonnage was 4,083,000 at 1.48 tons per acre compared with 3,129,000 tons and 1.33 ton acre average for 1937.

Oats declined from 186,302,000 bushels last year to 110,534,000 this year. Potato production slipped to 3,822,000 bushels over 3,120,000 for last year.

NLRB Reports On Bethlehem Steel

Washington, Dec. 27.—(AP)—A trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board recommended today that the Bethlehem Steel Company abolish its 30-year-old employee representation plan. He declared that it violated the Wagner labor act.

The recommendation was embodied in an intermediate report to the board by Examiner Frank Bloom who conducted a 10 months inquiry into Bethlehem's labor policies on a complaint filed by the Steel Workers Organizing Committee (CIO).

Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Corp., and its subsidiary, Bethlehem Steel Co., was credited with instituting the plan in 1918 as a by-product of world war conditions. Grace said it was a means of giving workers a voice in shaping policies concerning conditions of employment.

JAMES W. CRABB ASKS REVIEW OF HIS CASE

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 27.—(AP)—James W. Crabb, 22 year old son of a Delavan banker, asked the Illinois Supreme Court today to review his perjury conviction in Tazewell county circuit court and sentence of one to 14 years.

The case will be presented the high tribunal at the February term. Pending appeal, he is at liberty on $17,000 bond.

Crabb was convicted on the perjury charge Oct. 1. Previously he had been tried for manslaughter in connection with the gun death March 1 of his Helena bride of five weeks, Betty Collison Crabb, but a jury was unable to reach a verdict.

SPANISH REBEL ARMIES PUSHING LOYALISTS BACK

Insurgents Credited With New Gains In Catalonia

Hendaye, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Dec. 27.—(AP)—Spanish insurgent armies were credited with new gains in Catalonia today and the Spanish government was reported considering the transfer of its capital from Barcelona, chief objective of the insurgent offensive.

In the five days of the new drive insurgents estimated they had cut 230 square miles from Catalonia, the northeastern third of government Spain which is separated from the Madrid-Valencia area by an insurgent wedge to the Mediterranean 100 miles southwest of Barcelona.

An official insurgent communique announced capture of Alos de Balaguer, a town on the northern bank of the Segre river within striking distance of Arles.

A column of Moroccan and Navarrese troops operating around the El Monsech mountain range north of Lerida suddenly struck south from Peralba and Figuerola to seize Alos after a battle.

Capture of the town placed Gen. Franco's troops about 10 miles from Arles, on the opposite bank of the Segre. Government reinforcements are reported to have been rushed to the southern shore of the river, where machinegun nests have been established to prevent an insurgent crossing.

The insurgent communique also listed more than 30 positions, hamlets and villages taken both in the north and southern part of Lerida province. Most of them, however, are shown only on military maps.

Wind is Responsible For Probable Water Famine in Toledo, O.

Complete Shutoff Expected; Water Blown From River Into Lake Erie

Toledo, O., Dec. 27.—(AP)—Toledoans cut their use of water to bare necessity tonight, facing probable complete shutoff because of a quirk of weather.

For hours today a 30-mile west wind blew water out of the Maumee river, where Toledo's filtration plants are situated and on into Lake Erie. Tonight the river was 9 feet 10 inches below its normal level.

At 6 p. m. George Schoonmaker, chief waterworks engineer, said only enough water remained in the reservoirs to last a scant six hours. When the level reaches 2,000,000 gallons, pumping to consumers will be stopped in order to protect against fires, he said.

The city had cut its hourly output to 1,000,000 gallons, 500,000 gallons below normal.

Newspapers and radio stations carried officials' pleas to industries and householders to economize. Several industrial plants which have their own water intakes were forced to curtail operations.

Sandusky's water intake on Sandusky Bay was closed with ice piled up by high wind and the city had done no pumping since morning.

Hopkins Considers Private Job Drive

Washington, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Members of Congress, who soon must tackle the relief problem again, heard with interest today that Secretary Hopkins was considering a national campaign to find jobs in private industry for the unemployed.

Most of the legislators reserved comment, however, until they could learn more about what the new secretary of commerce has in mind.

It was learned that Hopkins has sounded out several leaders of the business world about a drive to create a "re-employment psychology."

Just how this might be done was not disclosed.

THE MASTER

Cleveland, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Public speaking teachers from throughout the nation, in convention here, were advised today to take a lesson from "a master"—President Roosevelt.

The suggestion came from Dr. Sara Stinchfield Hawk, University of Southern California professor and a widely-known psychologist.

President Approves Training 20,000 Students In Aviation

Plan Is Designed Ultimately To Provide Pilots To Man The Nation's Fighting Planes In Time Of War

Washington, Dec. 27.—(AP)—To provide pilots to man the nation's fighting planes in time of war, President Roosevelt today approved a plan for giving a course of instruction to 20,000 college students annually.

"Only by such an approach," said a simultaneous statement from the Civil Aeronautics Authority, "can the United States adequately safeguard itself against the vast aerial militarization programs now being pressed with fanatic zeal by foreign powers."

Civil Aviation

Both the president, who announced the plan at his press conference, and the authority, stressed first of all that the prospective pilots would be trained first of all for civil aviation. The result, it was hoped, would be a stimulation of interest in private flying and a consequent increase in the productivity of American aircraft factories.

"It is more in keeping with the American spirit of preparedness," the authority said, "to build up a great pool of men and machines, dedicated to and engaged in the pursuit of peace, not yielding first place to no other nation in flying skill or technical development, and quickly adaptable to military needs in the event of war."

No Combat Tactics

Mr. Roosevelt said in answer to questions that while the instructors would be army and navy fliers there would be no training in combat tactics. However, he added, it was to be expected that a proportion of the men trained would enter the army or navy reserve forces, and receive further training.

The president's announcement came as he prepared to send to congress recommendations for a vast expansion of the national defense. High officials have said the administration contemplates increasing the number of the nation's warplanes to some 13,000.

COSTER-MUSICA EXTORTIONISTS CAUGHT IN NET

Three Are Identified As Having Used Blackmail

New York, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The government late today began a roundup of the shadowy company of men suspected of extorting money from the late F. Donald Coster-Musica, the indicted president of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., who had cried out against blackmailers in a note written before his suicide Dec. 16.

The first suspect taken into custody was Walter H. Cragg, a disbarred lawyer convicted of grand larceny in 1914, who was charged specifically with using the mails to defraud and acting in concert with others for that purpose.

Identify Two More

Two others were identified by U. S. District Attorney Attorney Gregory Noonan as Mary Brandino and her brother, Joseph. The Brandinos, Noonan added, were charged with the same offenses as was Cragg. They were said by federal investigators to have been associated with Coster-Musica in a Brooklyn drug business in 1920. Other arrests were ordered.

Coster-Musica, who shot himself to death in his Connecticut country mansion in the midst of scandalous disclosures concerning an $18,000,000 overstatement of assets in his firm, left a long letter, published posthumously, blaming "Wall Street plunder and blackmail" for his difficulties—"as God is my judge."

Spending and Taxes Join, Official Says

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 27.—(AP)—State administration fiscal experts assert that the Illinois legislature, which begins its regular session next week must raise taxes if it votes higher appropriations for pensions, schools and relief.

Finance Director S. L. Nudelmann declared no increases in present taxes are contemplated but that new revenue will have to be found if the legislators make "extraordinary" appropriations.

Campaigns for more liberal old age pensions and more state aid to schools already are under way, but the Illinois Emergency Relief commission has not yet made its appropriation recommendations to the general assembly.

Brenda Diana Duff Frazier(!)

New York, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Dark-eyed Brenda Diana Duff Frazier, widely publicized as America's No. 1 debutante "glamor girl" of 1938, made her formal bow to society tonight in a neo-byzantine setting of gold and moonlight at the Ritz-Carlton hotel.

Before an assemblage of 1,200 guests, with two orchestras playing continuously from 10:30 p. m. to dawn, the slender, 17-year-old Brenda was the central figure against a background of mirrors, white ostrich-feather Christmas trees, and exotic red and white flowers washed by roving spotlights.

Unofficial estimates of the cost of the "coming out" party, the major year-end event of the season, ranged as high as $50,000.

As a spectacle, the "glamor" debut and ball was topped only by the Christmas tree, but for considerably short of Barbara Hutton's $100,000 ball for decorations alone—eucalyptus boughs and poinsettias brought from California—or the even more spectacular 1929 debut of Natalie Cole, who had the Ritz-Carlton ballroom transformed into a southern plantation, complete with mimosa, cottonfield and plunking banjos.

The reputed all-time "tops" for debut parties, from a financial standpoint, was the $250,000 coming-out of Marjorie Gould in 1929.

In the 1929-30 season, the most dazzling of the late prohibition era, deb parties averaged $12,000 each compared with $8,000 this year.

As an innovation, Brenda had an "anti-hangover" bar as well as three champagne and Scotch bars, stocked on a scale of two bottles of champagne for every three persons—with heavy reserves. At the "A-H" bar, over exhilarated guests were served a half-pint of milk and half-bottle of soda pop and were assured that by downing the fizzy mixture the perennial dilemma of the morning after would be minimized, at least.

FARLEY REPORT SHOWS DEFICIT IN POSTOFFICE

Expenses 43 Million More Than Income, Figures Show

Washington, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Postmaster General Farley reported to President Roosevelt today that the postoffice spent $43,811,566 more than its income in the 1938 fiscal year, but said it would have had $4,412,821 profit if it had not had the expense of its free services.

He estimated that it cost $48,224,377 government departments and blind persons, to subsidize air mail and perform "non-postal" functions.

Receipts for the year ending last June 30 totaled $728,634,051 and expenditures amounted to $772,445,897. This compared with expenditures of $772,815,842 and revenues of $726,201,109 in the previous fiscal year when the gross deficit was $46,614,732.

Report Highlights

These were some of the highlights of his report on 1938.

Mail planes had the busiest year in air service history. Their routes totaled 33,655 miles. Pilots carrying mail flew 46,112,994 miles, or 15 per cent more than in any previous year.

Postage was the principal source of income, accounting for $647,821,776 or $426,683 more than in fiscal 1937. Philatelic agency sales accounted for $1,585,751.

Postal inspectors made these investigations:

Theft and rifling of mail, 1,376; fraudulent use of the mails, 996; postoffice burglaries, 486. Money-order forgeries, 293, and embezzlement, 227. Only 16 employees were found to have been involved in these offenses.

Scott Lucas Sees Decline in Federal Relief Load Share

Senator-Elect Thinks Communities Should Pay; Moves Into New Office

Washington, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Senator-elect Lucas (D-Ill.) said today he believed communities should bear a large portion of relief costs and warned that government could not continue spending more than it could raise from taxes.

The Illinoisan, who moved into his new office today, said in a statement he believed relief would be the most important question before the next congress. He said he doubted seriously that congress would pass appropriations for relief that would be as large as those in the past.

"There is no question the crisis of 1933 is over. Communities as a whole are much better off than in 1933. xxx While we have been increasing the national debt, the debt of states, municipalities and private debts have been reduced."

Lucas said he always had supported appropriations for the army and navy and favored an adequate defense program. He said as long as he was an advocate of the American Legion he had urged a navy second to none.

File Two Contests In Illinois House

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 27.—(AP)—Two contests over seats in the Illinois House of Representatives were filed today with Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

Stanley J. Coffey of 1924 West Le Moyne Chicago filed a protest against the election of William G. Thion of Oak Park for the third seat in the 23rd senatorial district. Both are Republicans.

The other contest was filed by Baker McAlpin of West Frankfort, Democrat, against M. F. Browner of Mound City, Republican, for a seat from the 50th district.

The official canvass showed Brownian defeated McAlpin by 362 votes and Thion to have been elected over Coffey by 1631 votes.

AGED WOMAN DIES ON CHRISTMAS, HER WISH

Edinboro, Pa., Dec. 27.—(AP)—"Grandma" Samantha Wait, who died as she wished on Christmas Day, will be buried tomorrow in a shroud made of wheat straw which she picked from the fields on her 78th birthday 21 years ago.

A daughter, Mrs. John Alward of Erie, said her mother told her a few weeks ago:

"I am old, alone. If the Lord will give me what I want, I want to die on Christmas Day. I want to die smiling."

At the time she picked and made the shroud she had expressed a desire to be buried in it and relatives said the wish would be fulfilled.

While William Vogt, humane society agent, was being raised with ropes after taking the dog from the ledge, it became frightened and bit him on the face, back, left hand and arm.

WINDS SENDING COLD WAVE ON TO EAST COAST

At Least A Dozen Deaths Ascribed To Conditions

By The Associated Press

Buffeting winds whisked the worst cold wave of the new winter toward the Atlantic seaboard last night.

Sub-zero readings were reported in ten states and a minimum of 27 below zero was recorded at Warroad, Minn., on the Canadian border.

At least a dozen deaths were attributed to wind, cold and slippery highways. Snow, sleet and rain hampered traffic in many districts.

Snow ranging up to eight inches drifted quickly in Michigan but off-lake gusts abated as the thermometer dropped toward zero. Marquette was virtually snowbound. Marquette was without telephone or telephone service. The coast guard reported the strongest seas in years swept off Lake Michigan.

Chicagoans literally were shocked when the temperature there fell to four above zero—a plunge of 22 degrees in 18 hours. But they stoked their fires anew when the weather bureau warned it would descend to two below in the city and six below in the suburbs by morning. The most recent sub-zero siege there was on Feb. 19, 1936.

County Champions Will Compete For Spelling Honors

Fifty-Five Grade Spellers Will Enter Contest At Springfield

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 27.—(AP)—At least 55 grade school county champions are scheduled to compete tomorrow in the annual Illinois spelling contest.

That many have notified Supt. of Public Instruction John A. Wieland they will participate in the contest, but about a dozen more are expected to get in the competition before the pronunciation of tongue-twisters gets underway in the house chamber in the capitol.

Howard De F. Widger of Charleston State Teachers' college, who pronounced the words last year, again will serve in that capacity.

The annual state dictionary contest will be held at the same time for another group of elementary school pupils.

The two contests precede the opening of the 85th annual meeting of the Illinois Education Association tomorrow night.

Adoption of the legislative program for the coming session of the general assembly will be one of the major pieces of business to be transacted.

Recommendations by the legislative committee include those calling for a new certifying act raising requirements for beginning teachers, a minimum wage of $800 a year—$100 a month for teachers, and a building fund rate of at least 1 1/4 cents on $100 assessed valuation for each district.

Senators Criticize Trade Pact Method

Washington, Dec. 27.—(AP)—A bipartisan movement against conclusion of any new reciprocal trade agreements without Senate ratification appeared to be getting under way on Capitol Hill tonight.

From several sources—Democratic and Republican alike—came sharp criticism of the act which gives the president authority to lower tariffs in return for concessions from other countries.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) advocated outright repeal of the act as the most direct and "orderly" means of restoring to the Senate the ratification powers it voted away in 1934.

Farm Bureau Banquet

While the annual Farm Bureau Banquet, nothing more than a dinner with Christmas cheer, is being held late in the evening at the hotel, the business and pleasure will be combined when the Farm Bureau members and guests assemble tomorrow at the Illinois School for the Deaf, where organization reports, speakers and entertainment will be on the program.

In past years, ever since the Farm Bureau came into being more than a score of years ago, the dinner was a considerable problem because of the large attendance. The task of serving the dinner was divided among several centrally located churches, after which the farmers got together for a general session. This year the dinner is expected to be seated in the same large building at the state school.

While officers have not yet released their detailed reports, it is generally known that the past year has added its part to the successful history of the Morgan County Farm Bureau. The membership has remained large, extending into every district and neighborhood of the county. The service of the organization has been improved and broadened in scope.

That the new year holds possibilities for even greater growth and activity of the Farm Bureau was indicated recently when the membership voted authority to the board of directors to take steps toward acquiring a permanent home for the organization. What 1939 will bring in this respect is not known, but it can contribute a highly important chapter in the story of Morgan County Farm Bureau growth and development.

The 1938 annual meeting and banquet Thursday has the earmarks of a highly interesting and profitable session for the hundreds of farm owners and operators of the county who for more than 20 years have been united in agricultural work.

Women Legislators

There are not quite so many women in the state legislatures now as there were in 1929, but Illinois is one of the states in which the elections of last November resulted in an increase in the number of feminine legislators.

In January, the Illinois house of representatives will have four women members instead of two in the last house. These figures are from the compilation conducted by the Illinois League of Women Voters, surveying the results of the nationwide elections as they affect the legislatures.

New England states have a habit of electing more women to their legislatures than states in other sections. New Hampshire has 24, Connecticut 22 and Vermont 15.

In 21 states this year no women were elected, and in most of these there were no feminine candidates. In the country as a whole there are 127 women elected to legislatures, compared with the peak of 149 in 1929.

As to the desirability of the women's viewpoint in making state laws, the national secretary of the league says, "Every standing committee of every legislative body needs woman's point of view. Men and women, generally speaking, do have different experience and therefore a different contribution to make."

wish no committee could be without at least one woman member. That is certainly a sufficiently small percentage to expect."

How Key West Answered

(From the Potomac Magazine)
Civic Florida has no hold on Key West. Florida. A virile public spirit sends it off. The chief stimulus to the city's enthusiasm is the new 57-million-dollar Overseas Highway which connects it to the Florida mainland. Its recent completion, townsfolk believe, presages a new era of prosperity for the famous winter-resort city.

But the great bridge has also brought a problem. Down the gleaming concrete ribbon have come many fine home-seeking families and vacationists. The town has welcomed them. But along with such folk have come others seeking to set up gambling tables and race tracks, with an eye on "easy money." For these the city has no room, no welcome. It made that plain a few months ago in A Key West Declaration on the subject, sponsored by all civic organizations. Mayor Willard M. Albury drew up the statement to give representative groups a means of expression on the vital issue. The following excerpts make the fact eloquently clear that the voice of decency can be heard if enough decent people raise it.

"The problem before us is, 'Shall Key West be a shining example of a city rightly governed which offers in addition to its unsurpassed natural advantages an abode of peace and safety . . . or shall it accept the wages of prostitution and, for a false and transient show of money, harbor underworld exploiters, great and small?'"

"We welcome the stranger who would come among us and exchange money for service, or service for money; who would add homes and enterprises to our commonwealth, who comes to Key West seeking a more abundant life."

"We have no welcome for any of that multifarious class who are 'on the make,' whose aim is to find easy money without rendering an equivalent therefor and who can only offer dishonorable employment to our young people."

"Key West has always, even in the days of tribulation been a proud city. Now, when the future of incalculable service to the finest people of our country lies before it, more than ever before, let us highly resolve that the soul of Key West is not for sale."

SMALL TALK

G-G-Good morning. That shiver is left over from yesterday, but from all weather reports, we'll all continue to shiver for a couple of days. People are scurrying by the office with their hands over their ears, looking very much perturbed about the whole business. Those who have their hands in their pockets are either wearing red car mufflers or else their ears are red from the cold—can't tell which from here. There goes a car steaming by, and what we mean, steaming! We didn't walk to work this morning. If you know what we're DRIVING at (But we'll probably walk home this noon.)

Anyway, cold or not, it was a very swell Christmas weekend, and here's hoping you all had a very happy and enjoyable time. The stock query now, of course, is "Was Santa Claus good to you?" And the stock answer seems to be "You bet!"

Each year there are a great many new fangled decorations used, but there's one old timer that attracts attention season after season. It is an artificial Christmas tree that has been displayed for nearly three decades by Mrs. C. A. Barnes. One of the first artificial trees ever brought into Jacksonville, it has served faithfully and beautifully for so many Christmases that it has almost assumed the importance of a local Yuletide landmark.

The switchboard just buzzed again. The call was from the fifteenth (approximately) person who has phoned in during the last hour to find out how low the temperature dropped Monday night. In case you're still wondering and haven't found out as yet, the mercury nose dived to seven above. Have a news story here which tells of the 30 point overnight fall in Chicago, and forecasts a low there tonight of 13 above. Pickers! Be nice if we had a lake to keep us cool in the summer and warmer (two or three degrees) in the winter. Oh well, can't have everything. After all, we DO have FOUR churches on one corner!

One of the best features of the holidays is the opportunity to see old friends. There are more young people than you realize who skip away to school someplace when September comes around. Christmas is the only time between September and June when a great many of them can return. It's good to see them. It would be interesting to make a survey to see just how many colleges and universities in the country have students from Jacksonville. Just at the moment we can think of young people at the University of Illinois, Chicago, Northwestern, Cincinnati, Swarthmore, Oberlin, Smith, Oklahoma, Harvard, Yale, Iowa, California and Florida. Even that is quite a bunch.

It is interesting to note how many of the radio singers put Christmas carols into their programs at this time of year. Nelson Eddy and Kenny Baker both did Sunday night. One of the most beautiful group of carols was that sung by the Vienna Boys' choir on the Magic Key program Sunday afternoon.

Richard Bonelli, one of the greatest baritone voices of all time, stepped into the field of Christmas carols as soloist on the Ford Sunday evening hour. Bonelli, you know, is scheduled for a concert here on March 24, one of the MacMurray College concert series. We have been looking forward to that particular performance ever since it was announced.

Well, that should about wash up Christmas discussion for a while. The next item on the list is New Years. How about your resolutions? Probably will be plenty the morning after New Year's Eve. Incidentally, we're going to make some sort of resolution about having the column go through the hands of six or eight editors and proof readers. The misspelled "innocence" in Sunday's column has been giving us bad dreams ever since. Gagged on our Christmas coffee when we saw that. Oh well, maybe 'twas punishment for trying to be philosophical.

It's time to climb into a fur lined something or other and head for home. So, see you tomorrow.

GRACE KINDERGARTEN CHILDREN HAVE PARTY

The kindergarten school of the Grace church held its Christmas party and program Friday morning. The Christmas tree which was attractively decorated, was donated to the children by Rev. M. M. Blair. Each little tot received a treat of candy, orange and pop-corn balls, the oranges being donated by City Garden.

Those taking part in the program were: Tommy Ring, Henry Rust, Carlene Sandberg, Shirley Walker, Vivian Baptist, Patsy Timmerman, Robert Bergen, Jimmy Butcher, Catherine Ring and Harry Hickey. Others in attendance were June Meyers, Delores Rose Reveal, Connie Lou Lyons, Eddie McGrath, Shirley Fernandes, Betty Gibbons, Myra Jean Goveia and Laura Bell McGrath.

Miss Louise Woods and Mary Shannon are in charge of this school, assisted by Rowena Smith. This is a part of the Federal Recreation program of Morgan county.

BUNCO CLUB HAS MEETING

The ladies' Bunco club met at the Recreation hall Thursday afternoon, and had a Christmas party and gift exchange. There were three tables of bunco and prizes were awarded to Margaret LaMasters, Louise Woods and Rowena Smith.

This club meets regularly every Thursday afternoon at the Recreation hall, and is in charge of Louise Woods and Mary Shannon.

Survey New Route Planned to Lessen Mileage to St. Louis

Engineers at Work Now On Morgan County Part of Woodson-Medora Road

Surveyors have been at work in Morgan county for sometime selecting a route for the proposed new highway to connect U. S. 67 near Woodson with route 111 near Medora. The route is designed to shorten the distance between this city and St. Louis by about 18 miles.

Already in Greene county the route is taking definite form. Bridges have been constructed, and some grading has been done. The road will branch from U. S. 67 about two miles south of Woodson, and will go by way of Greenfield and Rockbridge to a point on No. 111 near Medora. It will open up a trade area for this city in the eastern portion of Greene county and the west section of Macoupin.

Two lines of survey will be run in part of the Morgan county section of the road. Highway department engineers are yet uncertain as to the exact location of this part of the route. It is fairly certain the road will be concrete slab, as it will carry the main traffic between this city and Alton.

County Taverns to Remain Closed on Sunday 'til 1 P. M.

County Commissioners Set Up New Opening Hour in Resolution

Tavern operators throughout the county have been notified by the Morgan county board of commissioners that effective immediately, they are not to open their places of business before 1 p. m. on Sundays.

The new opening hours were established in a resolution passed recently by the board of commissioners. Taverns are permitted to remain open until 1 a. m. every morning, and may open at 6 a. m. except on Sunday.

Taverns under the jurisdiction of the county commissioners are those located outside of municipal boundaries.

Synthetic Fabrics Will Be Discussed

New Inventions to be Subject of Discussions in Woman's Club Work

Mrs. C. E. Skeel, district chairman of American Home will promote "Consumer" discussions on problems for homemakers, such as deal with new inventions and discoveries which effect the materials that are used in the home. Material from the State Federation chairman will be sent to clubs early in January for study.

These study sheets will give information about the new synthetic fiber made from caseln, a by-product of milk is wool. It will answer the question, "When is wool not wool?" Stephen P. Gould and Earl O. Whitfield of the Bureau of Industry, United States Department of Agriculture have devised a process of making wool.

The process is similar to that used in making viscose rayon from cellulose. Public service patents are pending. The Bureau having applied for patents. The production of wool from milk started in Italy, during the Euphratian war, because France and England refused to send them material. Italians do not use much milk as food and they developed this fiber three years ago. This material is already made on a commercial scale. Most of the fabrics are half synthetic and half wool.

The commercial value and the value in the home will be the subject of the articles which the clubs will be asked to study. It is suggested that all organizations plan for at least one program for the coming months, to discuss these problems.

Discover Blaze at Hipkins Residence

Family Sleeping in Home is Routed Temporarily by Fire Around Flue

A fire which broke out around the flue at the home of Art Hipkins, 1037 Beasley Ave. at 12:30 a. m. Tuesday, temporarily routed the family which was sleeping on the second floor of the home.

One of the members of the family awoke and smelled smoke. The fire department located the blaze immediately, but because of its location, put in an hour's work extinguishing the flames.

The blaze crept up between the walls near the flue. It was extinguished by using a hand booster pump. A hole about three feet square had been burned in the side of the house.

Hospital Patients Receive Bounteous Christmas in 1938

Treats, Eats and Packages From Home Handed Out to 3,260 Inmates

The 3,260 patients in the Jacksonville state hospital received generous Christmas treats this year. On Christmas morning Santa Claus visited the various wards and distributed to each patient apples, oranges, four kinds of candy, peanuts and chewing gum.

The patients also received from their homes a total of 2,680 Christmas packages. As these were received at the hospital, they were placed in cold storage, so that any eatables in them would remain fresh, and were distributed to the patients on Christmas. A bountiful dinner was served at noon.

Tuesday afternoon and evening patients enjoyed their annual Christmas carnival in the gymnasium. The program was attended by those patients who are free during those hours. Last night those patients who are employed in the afternoon had their chance at the carnival games. This afternoon and evening the patients will enjoy their annual Christmas dance. The program will be arranged to care for all the patients in the two sessions of the dance.

• SERIAL STORY

SKI'S THE LIMIT

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CANT OF CHARACTERS SAID REYNOLDS. She had everything that popularity could win her, except DAN REYNOLDS—her o. He might have had Sally but while he was king of the social whirl, so... But go on with the story.

Yesterday, Dan asks Sally if she is engaged. Then he tells her that he is determined to stage a comeback, to ask again, and to repay his mysterious benefactor.

CHAPTER XV

LONG afterward Sally was to remember that lovely day by the brook and the things they had talked about and how happy they had been.

Many, many times she was to wonder why she had not spoken up then, when Dan had told her about his benefactor and all that he felt he owed him. If only she had! How much heartache might have been spared!

But Dan had told Sally that day that he believed in her. She had not had the courage to risk telling him that she had, in a way, deceived him again. That her father was the man who had helped him, because she had asked him to; that Dan owned his position and his chance to make good in this new world to them.

Afterwards she could see that that was what she should have done. It had been such a perfect day, they had been such friends, Sally and Dan. If Sally had been the one to tell him she could have made Dan understand. But how could she expect him to know, when he heard it from someone else, her reasons for not telling him, for remaining silent that day by the brook? How could she know that this would make him lose his faith, his belief in her again?

In the weeks of the happy, carefree summer that followed Sally's much too happy to wonder what the future would hold or to question it or her happiness. It was enough that she and Dan were friends, that they could share so many hours together, that Dan was growing more and more like his old self again.

It was Corey, surprisingly, who pointed out just how much Dan had changed to Sally one day. Corey, home now, was working in his father's office—or at least putting up a good bluff at working.

Sally had gone up to Dartmouth for the graduation exercises as she had promised him she would. It had been an impressive sight, so many fine young men in cap and gown, stepping from the threshold of one life into a new one. A new life that would be made easy for Corey.

Porter, whose father was a rich man, who felt, if he wanted anything badly enough, he surely would get it eventually. Corey still treated Sally with that attitude. He told her, as he had before, that he expected to marry her "one of these days."

"You might as well make up your mind to it, my sweet," Corey said. Corey had told himself before that it was only because Sally felt responsible for Dan's accident. But now he had to admit that things had changed. Dan had changed, certainly. He had gone to the new world he was living in. He seemed to fit in, to belong to it.

It was not just that he had made good at Devon and Devons. And now that Corey was an up-and-coming young stockbroker himself, thanks to his Dad's influence, he knew that Dan, thanks to his own effort and ability, had made good all right, but it went even deeper than that. Dan was now a rival whom any man might well have to outsmart.

No Deaths Recorded Among Pensioners For Entire Month

County Office Reports an Unusual Situation in History of O.A.P.

The Morgan county old age pension office reports a month in which there was not a single death among the more than 800 pensioners in the county. Superintendent Fred R. Deatherage stated Tuesday that he believed this was the only month in the history of the office here that there have been no deaths. The average is eight to ten per month. Records of the pension office shows that from Nov. 8 to Dec. 9 there was not a single death among pensioners in the county. When it is considered that all who receive pensions are over 65 years of age, and that the number exceeds 800, this is most remarkable. Deaths usually number about 100 annually.

Because of the low mortality in recent weeks, the number on the rolls at present is somewhat high, 865, to be exact. Most of the pensioners received their monthly checks the day before Christmas, which assured them of a pleasant holiday. The December pension payments for the county totaled $13,336, and the average payment is somewhat higher than usual, about $15.50.

Suspect in Holdup Claims He Attended Illinois College

Youth Giving Name of James Bryan Nabbed in St. Louis For Investigation

James Bryan, 20, who told authorities he formerly resided in Jacksonville, was nabbed by St. Louis police yesterday for questioning concerning a number of holdups. Bryan, who said he was a former student at Illinois college, is said to have admitted four holdups in three states during the past two months.

Local police authorities, when questioned concerning Bryan's claim that James Bryan of Johnston City, enrolled at the local institution two years ago, but was a student only for one semester, leaving here unexpectedly.

Bryan was held at St. Louis at the request of Pennsylvania state police, who sought him for questioning about a holdup of a National Biscuit company office at Greensburg, Pa. Dec. 21. He is said to have admitted to officers that he and another youth staged the robbery and obtained $325 in cash and $300 in checks. A $58 check obtained in the robbery was found on Bryan's person when arrested, it is said.

Authorities were told by Bryan that he and his companion, whose name has not been revealed, robbed a filling station at Edwardsville, November 30, a filling station at Madison, Wis. December 15 and a filling station at Champaign December 19.

Bryan told St. Louis authorities he staged the holdups to obtain money so that he might be married. He was arrested at an apartment in St. Louis with his bride, the former Evelyn Powell of Labadie, Mo., to whom he was married on Christmas eve. She said she knew nothing of his past activities.

Jacksonville police had been asked by Pennsylvania police to watch for Bryan, and were provided with his photograph and a full physical description. Bryan was employed here from August to October, 1932, the year he attended Illinois college.

According to Pennsylvania police Bryan was for a time employed by the National Biscuit company at Greensburg as a shipping clerk. He left the company last March and is said to have been identified last week when the holdup of the company's office took place.

Aged Naples Man Saved From Fire By Faithful Dog

Charles Hyatt Aroused In Time To Escape From Doomed Dwelling

Naples, Dec. 27.—Charles Hyatt, 70, an aged Naples man, owes his life to his faithful bulldog, "Queen," which awakened him in time to escape from his burning three room home when it was totally destroyed Christmas eve.

Hyatt, who lived alone in the south part of the village, was aroused by the dog barking and nipping at his arms. He jumped from bed and fled to safety a few seconds before the roof fell in.

"Queen" was not so fortunate as her master. She perished in the blaze, as the aged man had no chance to save her.

Nothing was saved from the house as the roof had fallen in by the time neighbors arrived. The origin of the fire is not known, but probably started from a stove. Hyatt had no insurance on either the house or contents.

Thus came the battle of the winds. The colder air advancing to give battle with the warmer, creating the wind, the popular front winning the battle as shown by the sharp pressure barometric gradient. Barometer reading at three P. M. Monday was 29.75, and at seven A. M. Tuesday it was 30.35. Thus the cold front overcame the warm front.

Winter storms move much more rapidly than summer storms. Average speed is 700 miles in 24 hours. This is due to the greater temperature differences, which are responsible for the winds and their velocity. The "high" of a cold wave follows and may reach 31 inches, but usually 30.30 degrees. The "low" at the time of the wind shift is 29.75, and the 26th was 31 degrees. The difference in pressure between the "high" and "low" determine the velocity and strength of the wind.

There are three types of winter storms. 1. The usual rain or snow. 2. The northeaster. 3. The blizzard. The usual snowstorm has little or no wind, or it may be accompanied by gusty wind, which causes the snow to tumble and fall wherever we go. The whirling snow may cause drifts. The northeaster is of the same type with stronger and longer continued storms. The cold old-fashioned snowstorm.

The heavy snowstorms are north-easters. Snow piles up and drifts are formed when driven by strong north-east winds. The cause of heavy snow fall is the elevation of moist air near freezing point in such columns, that much moisture in the form of snow is precipitated.

Southerly currents of moist air become unstable with colder air above and is forced rapidly and cooled in large volumes. Precipitation follows in the form of snow. Heavy precipitation can be produced if the warm winds meet an obstruction mass of colder and much more dense air, and has to rise over it. This combination gives the most intense fall of snow. A northeaster may mean the promise of any one of several kinds of foul weather, all depending on temperature variations.

In the south zone it may be rain, sleet, snow and rain, which may form glaze on trees, shrubs and wires. Next sleet and snow and finally in the north heavy snow.

The blizzard characteristics according to Brooks of Harvard are a gale of wind, zero cold and drifting, powdery snow. The wind may not be accompanied by actual snowfall yet to the height of several hundred feet the air may be filled with swirling masses of snow whipped by the gale. As observed from a lofty elevation the sky above may all the time be clear and blue, the snow covering in the intensely cold and dry sublimates to the pulverizing influence of high winds.

Such storms are not very frequent in the East. The great plains region is their habitat. Here the winds descend from the north with frightful violence, chockingly full of snow as fine as dust with the temperature at dangerously low levels. Thus are de-

Dr. Frank P. Norbury Tells About Storms

Dr. Frank P. Norbury of the Norbury weather observatory here yesterday gave an explanation of the cold wave that struck Jacksonville late Monday. Dr. Norbury made the following statement concerning winter storms.

"I have been asked about winter storms. The storm which has just passed, was typical in its origin and quick passage of winter storms. First came the battle of the winds. Very little wind prevailed up to 3:15 o'clock. P. M. Monday. Then at 3:30 came the wind shift when wind which had been in the southwest became northwest as the polar front masses of cold air from Alberta came bounding down at the rate of 30 miles per hour to encounter the equatorial air streams from the south.

The colder air advancing to give battle with the warmer, creating the wind, the popular front winning the battle as shown by the sharp pressure barometric gradient. Barometer reading at three P. M. TwentyFive Entries In Christmas Home Lighting Contest

Judging to Take Place Tonight or Thursday Night; Offer Cash Prizes

J. Clarence Lukeman, general chairman of the Elks Christmas Home Lighting contest announced Tuesday that 25 Jacksonville citizens had entered the contest and that judging would be either tonight or tomorrow evening.

Those who entered the contest are requested to keep their decorations lighted between the hours of 7:30 and 11 o'clock as it will require some time for the judges to make a five or six mile circuit.

The committee, composed of Mr. Lukeman, Don T. Cloud, A. D. Arnold and Carl Newport, has selected three disinterested persons from near-by cities to do the judging.

The Elks are offering $50 in cash prizes for the best decorated home, the first prize being $15.

While a majority of those entering the contest reside in the fourth ward, every ward in the city has entries.

The home lighting contest is one of several activities of the Elks Lodge during the holiday season.

The big Elks Kiddle party, attended by approximately 1,000 children, was held last week and the members will have a party next Saturday night. This party will be for Elks and their guests.

Dr. J. W. Hairgrove Pioneer Physician; Had Long Practice

Death Removes Link Between Early Days And Modern Times

The death of Dr. John Whitlock Hairgrove, recently, after a long professional career in Jacksonville, brought sorrow to a host of friends and especially to members of many of the older families in and about Jacksonville. At the same time, his death removed one of the links between pioneer days and the present.

Dr. Hairgrove was born in Jacksonville on August 21, 1856, the son of Columbus and Rose Ann Whitlock Hairgrove. Columbus later came to Morgan county from the southland, about 1850 and located his family on a farm southeast of Jacksonville. Columbus and three of his brothers were soldiers for the Union in the Civil War. Rose Ann Whitlock Hairgrove was the daughter of John Whitlock who came to Morgan county from Virginia in 1828 and Mary Shepherd Whitlock who was the daughter of Louis Shepherd who brought his family to Morgan county from North Carolina in 1831. The Shepherds and Whitlocks were farm neighbors a few miles south of Jacksonville. Judge Herbert G. Whitlock, long time local attorney, was an uncle of Dr. Hairgrove.

After the doctor's parents were married, they lived several years in Jacksonville and then moved to that section of Kansas which was ravaged by border warfare in the late 1850's in the land of John Brown of Harper's Ferry fame. Raids of Missouri bushwhackers drove the Hairgroves, who were glad to escape with their lives, back to Illinois and the family located on a farm in the Whitlock and Shepherd neighborhood. In that vicinity Dr. Hairgrove attended rural schools after which he was in Illinois College for two years.

Taught School

Among other boys on the hill at the time were William J. Bryan, Richard Yates, Jeremiah Danahoe, G. A. Hulet, Julian S. and Harry E. Wadsworth, P. M. Hockenbush, H. W. Johnson, C. S. Rannels, W. P. Rice, John F. Downing and W. R. Shaw. Dr. Hairgrove was a member of Sigma Pi society. He left college and taught a rural school for one year and then began the study of medicine and surgery under the pioneer Dr. David Prince and was with him four years in the Prince sanitarium on South Sandy street. He then attended and graduated from the Missouri Medical College at St. Louis.

After graduation, he went to New Mexico, largely on account of his health, and practiced there for a short time. He came back to Illinois and located at Waverly where he spent four busy years in practice, after which he spent a year in Vienna, Dresden, and Berlin in post graduate work. In later years he took post graduate work in Paris. After the year spent in Europe, he located in Jacksonville where he spent many years in service to his fellow men, retiring from active practice about a decade ago.

About five years ago he removed to Salem, Oregon, but frequently came back to Jacksonville and visited his old friends. In his early practice, Dr. Hairgrove was a horse-and-buggy doctor and drove the highways and byways in all sorts of weather. When motor vehicles appeared, he became an early owner and of course, an advocate of hard roads.

Exceptional Skill

In most families where he practiced he became more than a medical adviser, a first-aid friend. A physician of learning and a surgeon of exceptional skill he had an extensive practice. He did a vast amount of charitable work and many young folk owe their restoration to health to his skill, attention and generosity. He was always deeply interested in civic, educational and political affairs, but his modesty prevented his seeking public office. In politics he was a Republican, although not hide-bound.

Hairgrove was always deeply interested in the upbuilding and maintenance of the local hospitals. He was one of the visiting staff of Passavant hospital for many years and the first president of the medical staff of Our Saviour's hospital.

He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American College of Surgeons, the American Medical Association, the Illinois State Medical Association, the Morgan County Medical Society and of Harmony Lodge, No. 3, A. F. & A. M. and Springfield Consistory Scottish Rite Masons. The late William N. Hairgrove was a double cousin of the doctor. The doctor's sister, Miss Josephine, who along with his widow survive him, was a teacher in the Jacksonville schools for many years.

After retiring from practice, Dr. Hairgrove devoted himself largely to his books, especially to his histories and to the English, German and French classics. Always a deep and thorough student, he maintained his interest in medical and surgical advances, in social, economic, educational and political affairs. His long, useful life gave him much satisfaction and happiness.
